West Midlands Brass Bands Association is holding a Youth Training Day for young players on Saturday 1st February 2014 at a new venue in Birmingham. The event is open to brass players and percussionists aged under 18 years of all playing standards.

The aims of the training day are to improve the playing standards of the participants through group sessions with tutors, and in a full band environment. The Association training days encourage and motivate young players to attain higher standards to benefit their own bands and the wider community.

The event is open to all brass bands, brass groups and individuals. The cost for the day is £5.00 per person to include cold drinks at lunchtime, though participants should bring their own packed lunch.

Friends and family are invited to attend at 3.30 p.m. to listen to a short concert of an example of the work the young people have been involved in during the day.
